DEDICATION

The annual staff of 1953 considers it a privilege and an honor to dedicate this issue of the WILDCAT to our advisor and counselor, Mrs. Doris Wood.

It is due mostly to her advice and co-operation that this annual has been made possible. She has been our inspiration and guiding principle in almost everything that we have undertaken to do. Not only do we love her as a teacher, but also as a friend.

Our hats are off to you, Mrs. Wood. May you always remain the same as you are today.

Foreword

A CITY INVINCIBLE:

We will hope and keep on hoping. And every time we find a spark of hope and vision in anybody we will blow it into a blaze. They will tell us we can't change human nature. That is one of the oldest excuses for doing nothing. And it isn't true. We've been changing human nature for thousands of years. But what you can't change in it - - no, not with guns or whips or red-hot bars - - is man's eternal desire and vision for making the world a better place to live in. And wherever you go now - - up and down and across the seven seas - - you can see this desire and vision and hope bigger and stronger than ever, beginning to light up men's faces, giving a lift to their voices. Not every man nor every woman wants to cry out for it; but there's one here, one there, a few down this street, some more down that street until you begin to see there are millions of us - - yes, armies of us - - enough to build ten thousand new cities - - where men and women do not work for machines and money, but machines and money work for men and women; where greed and envy and hate have no place; where want and disease and fear have vanished forever; where nobody carries a whip and nobody rattles a chain; where men have at last stopped mumbling and gnawing and scratching in dark caves and have come out into the sunlight. And nobody can darken it for them again. They're out and free at last.

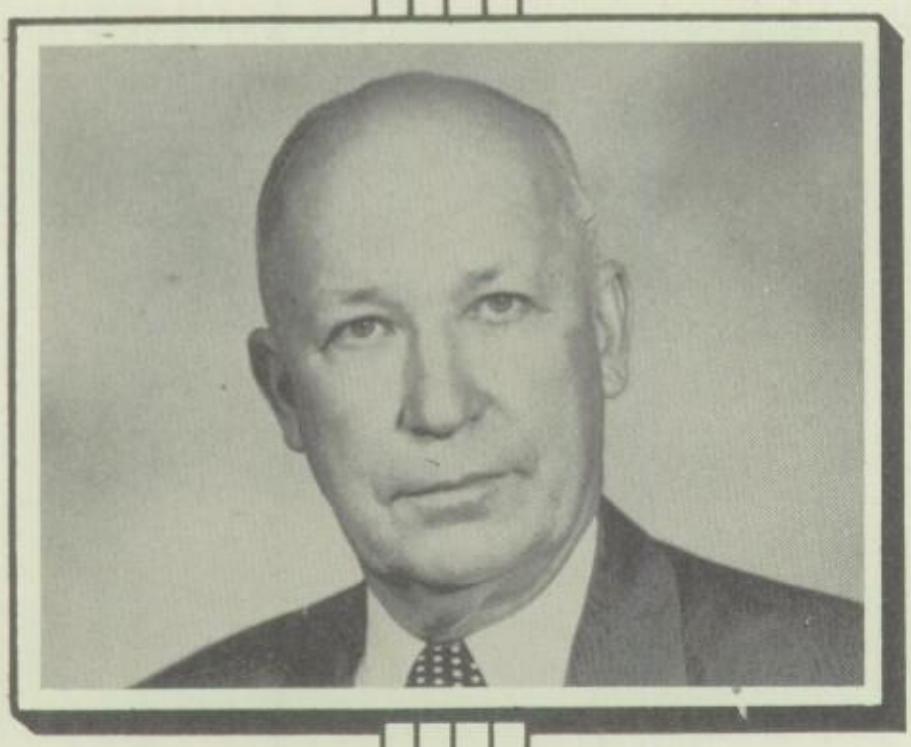
SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE



Dear Students:

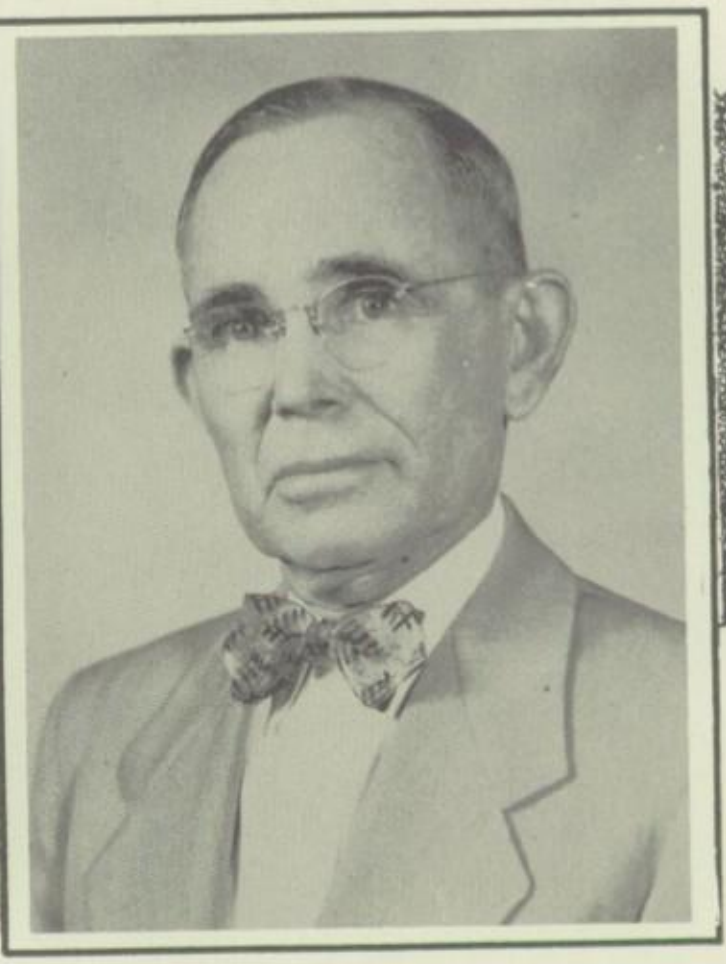
Another school year has come to a close, and I offer my congratulations to the "WILD CAT" Staff and Sponsor for the splendid portrayal of our school life they have preserved for us in the 1953 annual. This yearbook will be a source of pleasure for us through the years ahead as "we go through high school again in our memories."

My best wishes go to each of you.

Sincerely your friend,

A. H. Phillips

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE



As this, another edition of the "WILD CAT", goes to press, we are again approaching the close of another year. For some of you this will be the "finale" of a high school career, and you will soon be going into other fields of endeavor. I need not remind you that the measure of success with which you will meet in this new endeavor will be determined, to a great degree, by the manner in which you have applied yourself during these years of preparation. This you will soon find out for yourself.

To those of you who have other years of preparation before you graduate, let me counsel you that your time in school is valuable only in proportion to how well you use it. Apply yourself diligently to the task at hand, and those tasks which are yet to come will be easily conquered.

Sincerely, your friend,

James R. Smith

SENIOR CLASS WILL

My friends, I have called you to assemble here as a solemn duty, that you the heirs of my respected client, the class of 1953, may hear her last will and testament.

To Jonell Moore, who is in dire need of scholastic aid, we will Sue Penney's vast store of information.

To Wanda Harvey, who is well-known as the smartest girl in the Junior class, we leave Lynne Owen's reputation as a dumb blonde.

To Kathleen Strong, the loudmouth of the Junior class, we will Alice Lowery's quiet, sedate manners.

To Corine Gaddy, who can't get along with Mr. McClure, we will Betty Bell's ability to stay on good terms with him.

To Elaine Johns, who ca't get the "hang" of basketball, we give Pat Bennett's athletic ability.

To Rosalee Sprayberry, we reluctantly bequeath Leetie Hudgin's mantle of dignity.

To Wynelle Akin, that noisy Junior, we leave Margaret Glasscock's and Lorene Raine's ability to keep quiet in shorthand.

To Dorothy Youngblood, who always gets caught in the hall, we leave Leah Lowery's knack of sliding into class on time.

To Pat Sharpe, who just can't get a boyfriend, we leave Sue Farris's and Marilyn Phillip's ability to catch one.

To Austin Cates, who never drives fast or recklessly, we leave Mervil Bell's title of "Speed Demon."

To Billy Baker, who always looks so sleepy, we leave Loyd Hunt's English period in which he takes his daily nap.

To C. J. Jackson, better known as "Shorty". we leave Charles Lunsford's long, lank physique.

To John Wagnon, or the "Dumb One," we give all of Dalton Jone's straight A report cards.

To Mike Boles, who never sasses the teachers, we will Don Brinkley's ability to talk back and get away with it.

To Benny Gatlin, who, unfortunately, belongs to the Lockland gang, we will Henry Oliver's position in the West Side gang.

To Willard Alexander, our most careful driver, we give Dale Tripp's ability to run into people gracefully.

To Tracy Williams, who doesn't get along with Mr. Hays, we will James Ritter's and Conrad Barrett's ability to "softsoap" him.

To Lamar Morris, who won't participate in class activities, we leave Edward Campbell's willingness to work.

To Bill Sorrell, who attracts all the girls, we leave Larry Shumate's and Malcolm Harvey's ability to evade them.

To Mrs. Wood, the Senior class leaves their honesty and intelligence to be passed on to the next class.

To Mr. Phillips, who seems to be in need of information on various subjects, we leave all the themes the Senior Class has had to write.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

As I entered the new library in Mt. Enterprise, my eye was caught by a red leather book, and the contents are just too interesting to keep to myself. I want to share them with you.

During ten years in the Navy, Edward Campbell has swabbed 1570 decks. He should be a lot of help to his wife, Pat, on housecleaning days.

Larry Shumate is an announcer at the BIGG radio station in our city. He and his wife reside happily in the suburbs.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Barrett (Sue Penney) and their ten children are living in Reed's Mountain, where Conrad is a famous bird-hunter.

Mrs. Thomas Vaught, formerly Marilyn Phillips, conducts classes each day on the subject of "The Art of Catching Your Man."

Lorene Raines is a famous dress designer in New York. Her exclusive models may be bought in any of the Mt. Enterprise dress shops.

Pat Bennett may be seen daily heading down the road to Carthage with her lasso. Run, Jimmie John!

Loyd Hunt has made a terrific success in the movies as Donald Duck's stand-in.

Dalton Jones has made a big "splash" in show business. He mops up the floors after Johnny Ray finishes singing.

Sue Farris, the girl voted most likely to succeed, may be seen daily on her way to the Pentagon in Washington. (She's a scrubwoman there.)

Joe Johns, a well-known Romeo, is the most eligible bachelor in Mt. Enterprise society. He is pursued by every Sizzle Suzy in town, but he still makes weekly trips to Brachfield on Saturday nights.

Henry Oliver has become a world-famous inventor. Lately he has been trying to sell his newest invention, electric lights.

Dale Tipps has bought the Waldorf Astoria in New York. It is now known as the Tipps-Astoria.

Leetie Hudgins, a chorus girl, recently appeared in a Broadway show entitled "Who Got Gertie's Garters?"

Margaret Glasscock is doing fine in her nursing career. Sick patients often mistake her for an angel, but we know better.

Charles Lunsford lives the life of Riley while his wife brings home the weekly paycheck. Charles isn't lazy; his wife's energy tires him.

Malcom Harvey lives the life of Riley, too, as a carefree cowboy. To cut expenses, he shares a stall with his horse, Mabel.

James Ritter has made a record for the Goofus Recording Company Called "Don't Make Love in a Buggy, 'Cause Horses Carry Tails."

Alice and Leah Lowery and Betty Bell are members of the famous girls' basketball team, the Sad Sacks.

Mervil Bell has organized his own basketball team, all little Bells. He even has a couple of substitutes.

Don Brinkley is a prominent figure in politics. He has just been elected mayor of Mt. Enterprise.

Lynne Owens is the Dean of Women at Vassar College. Her hobby is trying to pass the tests she gives her students.

Lots of luck to a good girl.
Love, Lorene

Dear Corine,
You are a swell girl and I love you for being so sweet. I hope your life will be like a bed of roses, if not stand up + face it boldly and I know you will.
Lots of Love
Dot Youngblood

Dear Corine,
Jaime been a swell pal and classmate all these years. I'm looking forward to next year with anxiouity!
Good luck in everything.
I Love You,
Janelle moore

Dearest Corine,
You are a very sweet cousin. I have enjoyed the pastel year of school with you. Best of luck always. James year. John

Dearest Corepe
It has been such fun knowing
such a sweet person as you. I will always you as one of my best friends. I guess we are lucky not finishing school this year cause
it ~~took~~ leaves another whole year for us (the Sr girls now) to have fun.
Always a Pal
Love,
Pat

Dear Carine
